DIS/DIFF: Wheelchair User

Italy.

Josh sustained a spinal cord injury in 2014 after driving to a swimming and hitting the bottom. The accident left him with an incomplete SCI, which now leaves him with the ability to stand up and walk in small doses. He mainly uses a wheelchair to get about his daily life. Josh didn't let his disability define his as a person, if anything it made him more outgoing, more driven, and more grateful of life. As a young boy all the way up to having his accident, Josh was a mad sportsman; playing a range of sports such as rugby, hockey, cricket, football, swimming, cycling, water polo, skiing, snowboarding. He went to an International Boarding School called Basell School from age 7 to age 18, and whilst there was fortunate to meet and create friendships with
